

Q)

Write an application to create a QuizEngine.

Where user can select Quiz from various topics (educational or General awareness or Games).

Every Quiz having ten set of questions and four option each , out of which only one option is correct.

Giving every correct answer user gives one point and move to next question and every wrong answer just move to next question.

At end , display total point along with number of users score more and less point then current user.

- a) Create application using arrays.
- b) Using Collections.
- c) Using Database.
- d) Using XML.
- e) Using File IO